Q2 MARKET OVERVIEW

Equity markets saw mixed performance in the second quarter. The AI-related theme continued to surge, further boosting this year's gain in the large-cap S&P 500. On the other hand, mid- and small-cap indexes recorded losses. Rate cut expectations were reined in and economic numbers cooled on the back of a rebound in bond yields. Election risks started to loom and market leadership continued to narrow. The challenge of this finicky, big-cap dominated equity market was too great to overcome. Although the multi-cap Leuthold Select Industries Fund had a loss for the quarter, it outperformed small caps and mid caps by 0.60% and nearly 1%, respectively.

Q2 PORTFOLIO OPPORTUNITIES

- An overweight in the Semiconductor Equipment group was a positive among the industry concentrations in the portfolio—it profited with the continued surge in AI stocks.
- There was no exposure to Real Estate, which was an advantage as the sector underperformed.
- Two other IT groups were value-added: Hardware/Storage/Peripherals and Systems Software.

Q2 PORTFOLIO SHORTCOMINGS

- Construction-related groups, like Homebuilding, Construction Materials, and Construction Machinery, all suffered big losses—a major detractor to return.
- As oil prices weakened, Energy sector holdings, particularly O&G Equipment & Services, drastically underperformed.
- While the Semi-Equipment group was an overall boost to return, the extent of the upside was curbed by a lack of exposure to names among the most prominent of the AI high-fliers.

IMPORTANT RISK INFORMATION

Common stock prices may decline and such declines may be steep, sudden, and/or prolonged. Annual turnover may exceed 100% and will result in more transaction costs such as brokerage commissions or mark-ups/mark-downs. This could result in higher realized-gains' taxes for shareholders. Although the adviser continuously reviews and refines its strategy, there may be market conditions where the quantitative investment approach performs poorly. See the Prospectus for more details.

† Morningstar Rating™ or "star rating": For funds with at least a 3-year history, a risk-adjusted-return measure is calculated to account for variation in monthly performance, placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistency.
